Testerday there was a grand celebration here in honor of the late victores to the Union arms and the peace resulting therefrom. By order of General Grant two hundred guns were fired. A splendid pole was also raised in front of the Lanier Hous, where General Wilson has his headquarters, and a beautily fing unfurled to the breeze. Brass bands breathed forth the "concord of sweet sounds" in various parts of the cey, and the entire proceeding reminded one of an old-factoned Fourth of July selectration. A gentleman, who has resided in this city all his life, remarked to me that he had not fee as home since the Union flag was taken down from that vey spot and the "rattlesnake" run up in its stead.

MORE ABOUT THE HORRORS OF ANDERSONVILLE.

The my last letter was written I have conversed with sell of the horrors of this worse than hell cannot be described. I was told by Mr. Reid, a gentleman fully enand anake eved devil, by the name of Wirtz, would amuse himself by putting down the number of the ed, and dividing them by the average mber of deaths per day, and then chuckle, saying to Il be in hell." He would also grant a thirty days furlough to any one of the guards who would detect a prisoner with his hands on the dead line, and shoot him. Some of the men were so weak from diarrhoea and starvarion that they would sometimes fail on the dead line from sheer exhaustion, and certain death was the result. Wirtz boasted that he was killing more Yankees than any regiment in the field. During the winter the prisoners suffered severely from lack of wood. They would build a small fire of splinters, and crouch around it until fiesh and blood could stand it no longer, and then drop dead at the feet of their companious. The only opportunity of ob-taining wood, in addition to the scanty supply furnished them, was by parties who carried out the dead men, who would fill the blanket with wood. A small steec of this would sell for one hundred dollars. Some of the men, when they were dying, actually sold the privilege of cup of coffee or a morsel to eat. I might fill a column of the Hanalo with these terrible and heart-sickening rela-tions, but will not trespass further upon your valuable space.

The Fourth division moved out from here to-day, to join their commander, General Upton, at Augusta. They will probably be divided between Augusta and Atlanta. A battalien of the First division has also gone to join General McCook, at Tallahassee, Florida.

SUPPLINS EN ROUTE.

Our quartermasters and commissaries have received intelligence that a large amount of supplies are at Atlanta, having come from Savannah via Augusta, and are waiting for their arrival rather impatiently, as they are much needed by the army.

The all-absorbing question now seems to be, "How are the people to be supplied with provisions?" Many of them are simpst in a starving condition, and as they have nothing but Confederate money they are entirely unable to procure the necessaries of life. The Atlanta Register of the 4th instant speaks on this subject as follows:—

"It is very evident that something must be done, and at once, or the relief of thousants of people in this city who are simost totally without food. The stores in the city are all closed, and even if they were open the want of a currency would prevent the people from buying the necessaries of life. This state of affairs cannot continue much longer without provoting the most absolute distress in our midst. The simple fact is, the people must be fed somehow, and the sconer the State, or such other authorities as have the means, set about it the better it will be for the destitute; otherwise starvation will be a guest at hundreds of boards, and the waits of hunger will not only issue from the hories of the poor, but from the homes of those who were a short time since living in comparative affluence.

"If Governor Brown has it in his power to administer aught to the people now is the time for him to do it. If the State has any commissary stores on band the people should have them. We do hope our contempera

Brown and General Wilson were clos nost of the day yesterday, but what were the subjects of conference, and what the result I have been unable to learn. It is understood, however, that they agreed on the policy of governing the State, and this morning the following proclamation is published:—

70 THE OFFICERS AND MEMBERS OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE STATE OF GENERAL.

The magnitude of the events that have occurred since your late adjournment, and are now transpiring in our public affairs, affecting as they do so seriously the safety, security and welfare of the State, reader it highly proper and expedient that the General Assembly should be in sension again at an early day, to consider of the existing state of things, and to provide the best means which they in their wisdom may be able to devise for meeting the exigencies of the times.

The two most distinguished Generals of the confederacy, commanding the armice upon which we mainly relied for the defence and maintenance of our cause, having been compelled by overwhelming numbers to capitulate, it now devolves upon statesmen and patriots, in the civil department of government, to do all in their power to prevent anarchy, restore and preserve order, and save what they can of liberty and civilization.

You are therefore hereby required to convene in extraordinary session, at the Capitol, in Miledgeville, on Monday, the 22d day of this present month.

Given under my hand and the great real, at the Capitol of the State, this third day of May, 1865.

In various parts of the country the people, hard pressed th hunger, and with starvation staring them in the ace. have risen in armed mobs, consisting of discharged toldies, citizens, women, children and negroes. In Auitia have been called out by a prosued by he Mayor. As General Upton has arrived at that place and taken command, the difficulty will soon be obviated. In prevent the enacting of such disgressful proceedings in the quarter the following order has been issued, and subsistence is being issued to the hungry as fast as possible:—

HEADQUARTEM. CAVAIRY CORPS, M. D. We have three daily papers now published here on half sheets: the Journal and Messenger, Evening News (late Telegraph and Confederate) and the Daily Herald they have no means of obtaining foreign news, and so content themselves with publishing local matters and extracts from the few Northern papers they are able to obtain frem parties arriving from God's country. As soon as the Legislature convenes I will have matters of importance to communicate.

HEADQUARTERS, CAVALRY CORPS, M. D. M., MACON, Ga., May 9, 1865.

GOVERNOR BROWN AND THE STATE TROOPS. Governor Brown and some of his intimate political ad visers have been in consultation at times for the past week with General Wilson, but what is to result from their deliberations remains to be seen. The Governor her, as I informed you in my last letter, issued a call for a special session of the Legislature to convene on the 22d inst. Yet I am informed that General Wilson has given him distinctly to understand that that (dis)honora-ble body will not be permitted to convene without authority from Washington. And so the matter rests. General Wilson made a formal demand of Governor Brown for the surrender of all the State troops and pubor military commander, has given his personal parole for the troops, including the militia and State troops. The State stores, embracing some forty thousand pounds of powder, were also surrendered; but the provisions were immediately turned over to the State quartermasters for distribution among the destitute poor and a report made to the Secretary of War. This wipes out the last speck of the war cloud in Georgia. The militia of Georgia have been a very formidable orfederacy has ever placed in the field. The Governor in sigh, and, in a nonchalant manner, said that if he could no longer ight the "Yanks" in this country he could go to Mexico and join Maximilias. This drew forth a hearty guffaw. And then a little dapple gentleman, with a pug mose and cross eyes, said that, as for him, he should now make his "long contemplated tour of Europe." "And I," spoke up a sandy little lieutenant, with protruding teeth, between which he held the amber stem of a pipebowl some six feet in front of him on the table, "shall go to the Sandwich Islands, or some other piace where I shall never see another infernal Yankse." I have only time to remark that these gentlemen belong to the Siate "merlish," and never heard the whistle of a Minic ball. I am called out and ushered into the august presence of the late "Hon. Howell Cobb, of Georgia." How shall I describe him? A man about five feet eight in his boots; fat, swarthy and dissipated; eyes of no particular shade or color, and a built dog air, which said plainly, "I'm chained now; but wait till jet loose if you want to see fun." This is all in appearance, however, for he has never been known to show a spark of the varery yot. He had a great deal to say about his government, and lamented the necessity which compelled "so great and brave a people" to submit to the rule of tyrants, as he termed the officers of the United States. When he came to a period, I made a dash, and, hastily bidding him good morning, ieft his house, toroughly disgusted with what I had seen and heard.

ATER TEPP. DAVIS.

The Proclamation offering a reward for Jeff. Davis and his coworkers in tolquity has been published here, and the troops are scattered in all directions after him. Various reports of his whereabouts have been brought in by scouts and others, and the authorities are very confident of success in catching him.

the gray mare next, while Lady Mace was little thought of. Gray Ned did not start, on account of lameness. Agnes took the lead with the word, and retained it to the end, the gray never making an effort to approach her. Lady Mace did all she could do, and was distanced. Time 2:48.

Second Heal.—The backers of the gray mare now appeared very anxious to back her, notwithstanding that she made such a poor show in the first heat, and they were willing to bet seventy against one hundred. Agnes got the best of the send-off, but before she got around the turn the gray went in front, and with the greatest apparent ease led all the way around, winning by a length in 2:43%.

Third Heat.—One hundred to forty was now offered on the gray, with few takers. She took the lead with the word and maintained it to the end, winning in hand, by three lengths, in 2:42.

Fourth Heat.—This heat was a counterpart of the previous one, and was won by the gray mare, by three lengths, in 2:65%.

City Intelligence. LARGE HAUL OF COUNTERPRIT CURRENCY IN YORKYDLE—AR EXTENSIVE OPERATOR IN CONTOUT—A DESCRIT BY WEE POLICE.—Yesterday afternoon officers Robert Brown and Cammett, of the Twenty-third precinct police, under Cammett, of the Twenty-third precinct police, under Captain Hutchings, made a descent on the premises occupied by Frederick Schroeder, at the corner of Eighty-fifth street and Second avenue. Schroeder has kept a grocery store at the above named place for some two years or more, and during that time the neighbors had observed that a large portion of the fractional currency given out by him proved to be bogus. This was especially the case when children were sent to the store, the change given them being invariably bad. Complaint was finally made to Captain Hutchings, who placed men on watch to detect the fraud. On Thursday night the police report that Schroeder became unusually bold, and put out large quantities of the 'queer'; and yesterday the evidence gathered was such as to justify a descent on the premises, which was accordingly made. About ninety dollars in spurious stamps, of the denominations of twenty-five cents and fifty cents each, were discovered bid on the premises, and a large quantity found on the person of Schroeder. The latter was arrested, together with his wife and Louis Stock, his clerk. They were locked up in the Twenty-third precinct station house, and will this morning be brought before United States Marshal.

A Soldiers' Employment Agency.—Arrangements are now being brought to a head having for their end and aim the establishment in this city of a "Soldiers' Employment Agency." It will prove a great and decided "scharged from the United States service. It is proposed to place the office under the immediate charge of Colonel Hannan. Among those who are laboring for the successor the movement are Mosers. Supervisors Tweed and Wilhams, Street Commissioner Cornell, W. H. Field, F. Kulba, Kapp and Wm. A. Herring.

and willing, Street Commissioner Cornell, W. H. Field, F. Kuhea, Kapp and Wim. A. Herring.

This State-Qonds for the Volentria Committee.—The State-Qonds for the indebtedness of the State to the city of New Yor, are now being received by the Supervisors' Volunteeing Committee. In fact $151,000 have already been received. Vouchers to the amount of $450,000 more have been repeared by Supervisor Blunt, to be forwarded to the Sage authorities. These sums are in repayment of money layanced to the State for recruiting purposes. The entire sum will reach not far from $3,000,000, and all will be wranged as soon as the vouchers can go forward. After empleting this business the committee will turn its attentio, to the wants of citizens who hold claims against the State for furnishing substitutes under the latest call for troops. There are also a large number of these to be audited.

Salz of Transports.—Brevet Brigadier General Stewart Van Vleit, United States Quartermaster, year-day sold the following vessels, lately in government serve:—The bark Veltigeur, 383 tons, lying at pier No. 12, was old to Messas Secor & Co., for $7,600; the brig Dragoon, 250 tons, was sold to J. E. Ward & Co., at $5,000. Both of these vessels were rather old and need some repairs. There was not a very large attendance at the sale, and bids were by no means spirited. The steamships Cahawba and Detroit were withdrawn, no offers being made for them.

The Chomas Society.—A most rechercle entertain ment was given last evening at Irving Hall, in celebration of the thirteenth anniversary of the Clionian Society. This society is connected with the New York Free Academy, and does every credit to that institution. The exercises comprised declamation, or order that we do not wish to make a distinction, which oratory and music. The orations were all of so high an order that we do not wish to make a distinction, which hardly existed. We may, however, mention the Presidential address, by Chas. M. Smith, Jr.; that of Mr. E. Eurich, on "Memory," and that on "In Memoriam," by James C. Halleck, Jr., as showing great ability. Hood's "Dream of Eugene Aram" was given with remarkable vigor and feeling by Mr. I. Nulty. Honorary addresses were delivered by E. P. Wheeler, A. M.; A. M. Lee, A. B., and A. L. Sawyer, A. B. The musical portion of the programme was under the direction of C. S. Grafulla, and comprised selections from the works of Rossini, Donizatti, Flotow, &c. The Chonian Polka, by one of the members, is a very agreeable piece of dance music. It is hardly necessary to say this part of the programme was not decicent. A large and respectable audience was present, which displayed at intervals its approbation of the entertainment.

The Lark Riss on Stage Fares.—The stage proprietors some time ago increased the fares on the different oratory and music. The orations were all of so high an tors some time ago increased the fares on the different lines throughout the city from six to ten cents, in consequence, as they set forth in their manifesto, of the depreciation of the currency and the high price of horse feed. Then gold fluctuated above the 250's. Hay was some $35 per ton and oats $1 10 per bushel. The occasion for the advance in fares then, has now passed away. Gold has been subjected to a beating process as effectual as that given to the rebellion, and has been brought to almost as low an ebb. Hay is, now but $22 a ton and oats 50 cents a bushel—these articles actually rating lower than in 1861. Surely, with such reductions, together with a very material fall in iron, our omnibus proprietors might well bring down the fares to once bellum rates.

SAD PATR OF A LOFTY MATRIMONIAL ALLIANCE—THE NOBILITY OF SLIDELL'S BON-IN-LAW GONE.
It will be recollected, says the Washington Chronicle, that "a dismond wedding" came off in Paris some time ago, the high contracting parties to which were the Baron Erlanger and the daughter of Joha Slidell, minister plenipo of Jeff. Davis, "near" (but not very near) the court of Louis Napoleon. A lawsuit, involving the said Baron Erlanger in some very awkward affairs, has since come off, and a pamphlet publication of the proceedings has got into circulation, entitled "Baron von Erlanger, Buon and Vibona," whereupon it appears that a question of identity arises. There are two Von Erlangers—father and son. Both can be designated "Haron," and both consenting while dignity was safe. But, with disgrace impending, the father laron, who has use for his reputation just now, reclaims his exclusive right to all the honors, and reduces his son—husband of Miss Slidell—to the rank and file grade of promiscuous German Both the rank and file grade of promiscuous German Both.

obedience to the reclamation (with a libel suit in prospect) we cheerfully admit that the lawsuit, reported in this and other papers, was not against the Portuguese Baron Raphael, but against the son and partner, the Meiniagen noble Emil Von Erlanger."

This reclamation of the father settles by authority the one-horse noblity of Mr. Sildell's son-in-law, and entitles him, under a reverse of fortune to keep a first class lager beer adioon in Western Texas or on the head waters of the Red river, without any further evidence of his social status. But the real baron, though thus relieved of the scandal of the pamphlet, has a trouble of his own to attend to, and the Bavarian papers are handling him without mercy. He is the rebel loan agent for Germany, by grace and trust of John Sildell, and it seems has gone pretty deep into the cotton business on private account. Among other enterprises and operations, based upon the royal staple he got up a grand cotton spinning establishment at Oggersheim, in Rhenish Bavaria, of which he was not only founder, but president and financial manager. The said establishment has recently bursted. We are not told what his own loss or gain has been, but it is certain that the slaveholders loss the whole amount of their investments, and the Bavarian papers are filled with charges of scandalous conduct in the management of the

AFFAIRS AT MATAMOROS.

By the arrival of the bark Susan Jane, Captain Haxof April, and at that time great excitement pre-vailed in the city. On the 5th of April the report that Cortinas was marching on the place created quite a stir, and it was some time before the people became reassured of their temporary safety.

On she 7th the citizens of Bagdad were thrown into On the 7th the citizens of haguan were that Cor-tines had attacked the stage and robbed the passengers, besides destroying the telegraphic wires between Bagdad and Hatameros. It, however, turned out to be the opera-stagnated. There is now but little to be shipped from Bagdad to the United States, all the cotton that had been magnate to the United States, all the Cotton that had been stored there having been sent away long since. In any way the fall of gold offers no inducements now to ship-pers to engage in the trade, even though cotton were plentiful. Nothing but war and the alarms of war now engage the attention of the people, and the richest merand go into the trenches. There is any quantity of skedadding to the Texas side whenever opportunity offers. Up to the latest moment, however, the imperialists were getting the best of the row, though great fears were entertained that Kirby Smith and his motley crew of thirty-five thousand ragar would shortly, and in sheer desperation, enter Mexi-can territory and decide the contest against Maximilian. The game is a big one; but if Kirby Smith has the needed pluck and resolution he can carry it out. Maximilian and the empire being once out of the way, the fate of up by his rebel ally, and, though the last destroyed, he will be none the less disposed of for all that. These facts, with the addition of the statement that there is no kind of safety either for life or property in the vicinity of Bagdad or Matamoros, comprise—with what we have given above—all that is new from this part of Mexico.

The prisoner gave his name as Charles Williams, but was subsequently identified as Wesley Allen, whom the police authorities say is a noted offender. Mr. Sweet was noticled to appear at the court yesterday morning and prefer a complaint against the prisoner. Early yesterday morning Mr. Sweet called at the Second precinct station house, and, as he says, accompanied Williams and officer Ferguson to the court. On the way thither Williams told Sweet that he was innocent of the charge, but that he recognized two men in the stage with whom he had formerly operated, and believed they had taken his watch; that he (Williams) had given up that kind of business and reformed. Williams expressed his ability to recover the watch from the two men, and that he would make an effort to do so if he (Sweet) would not press the charge against him at court. While in the court room the prisoner had a private interview with officer Ferguson during the absence of Judge Hogan, and afterwards, when the case was called by the lagistrate, the latter understood that Mr. Sweet was not present. At the request of the prisoner officer Ferguson and Mr. Sweet accompanied him to Broome street for the puspose of procuring the watch, but it was not recovered, and, on entering, a man representing himself as an aiderman socosted Williams and held a conversation with hm in a subdued tone of voice, after which the aiderman spoke to Sweet and said he had no doubt Williams was tingoent, and that in order to protect the prisoner he (the iderman) would hold himself responsible to him (Sweet) for one hundred dollars to indemnity him for his loss, if he would agree not to prosecute Williams. The alderman told Mr. Sweet he need not appear at the police court, and that if he did not appear he could not be compelled to do so. Officer Ferguson then spoke up and told Mr. Sweet then end not appear at the police court, and that if he did not steal the watch, but hi fugitive, whom he took to the station house. In her complaint, Caroline alleges that on Thursday Levy stole a box containing $1,009, and a gold watch and chain worth $75, from her wardrobe, to which he had access. Missing her property, the complainant says she spoke to Levy about it, when he said if she would accompany him to Greenwich street he would show her where the property was; but while Caroline was fitting on a dress he ran away. The magistrate issued a warrant for Levy, and yesterday officer Leayoraft, of the Tombs Police Court, arrested him, and on searching the premises $1,358 64 were found in his possession. Levy was committed for examination. The accused, in explanation, says that the money was deposited in the bank in his same, and claims that he and no one else could draw it from the bank. On the other hand it is alleged that the complainant gave the money to Zevy to deposit in his name, the understanding being that he was to marry her. The case is still under examination.

The police of the Fifteenth precinct, under instructions from Captain Caffrey, arrested about twenty street walkers on Thursday night, they having been found accosting strangers in the public streets. The prisoners were taken before Justice Dodge and committed for examination.
